

Grapeville Christian School

Developing the mind, heart, and character to the glory of God

We Believe:

1. Individuals need character-building disciplines. To this end, our students are guided by a set of rules and regulations. These are for the purpose of helping each student learn to govern himself responsibly.
2. Individuals need convictions. In order to face the complex problems of life, it is important that young people clearly understand the Biblical principles upon which the Christian view of life and eternity is based. At Grapeville Christian School this view is a natural response from young people who are taught that all is to be done "to the glory of God."
3. Individuals need to develop leadership qualities. America today is in need of young men and women with judgment, creativity, courage to act, and with willingness to accept responsibility. Opportunities for leadership are available at our school, and all students are encouraged to participate in the overall student program of activities.
4. Individuals need manners and courtesy. A knowledge of etiquette and the unconscious practice of good manners is vitally important for young people as they prepare for adulthood. Consideration for the rights and feelings of others is a fundamental principle of responsible conduct. The common courtesies of life are taught and practiced at Grapeville Christian School.
5. Individuals need standards of dress and appearance. A well-rounded education includes training in good health, appearance, and dress. Neat and modest school attire has a definite place in providing an atmosphere which is conducive to study and school work. To aid in this training, Grapeville Christian School has adopted a set of dress standards which will be given to all students prior to the opening of school.

Our educational program allows for:

1. A high academic program including Bible study which reveals Jesus Christ as the divine Son of God.
2. A Christian environment where young people may enjoy fellowship with others of high moral standards.
3. A Christian view of our American heritage where young people may develop a love of country and an appreciation for the American way of life.
4. A spiritual program where young people are challenged as to the opportunities of Christian service.
5. A leadership development program where young people are afforded opportunities to develop their leadership talents.
